Introduction

Derman Medical Publishing, owner of The Journal of Clinical And Analytical Medicine (JCAM) and Eurasian Clinical and Analytical Medicine (ECAM), has been operating in the international field by these two journals. You can follow all of our scientific activities online. Submitted articles, you wish to be published in our journals called JCAM and ECAM, are reviewed by at least two referees. You can see the articles accepted for publication after peer review in our publisher online volume. Edition of the articles are made according to the chronological order. As in every our study, we are very careful to be transparent on this issue. Scientific committees of academical journals are updated annually. Whole process of editorial board of JCAM and ECAM can be followed online by people. You can reach our updated editorial boards by our website. Derman Medical Publishing gives an annual award called "Best Article of the Year". Best ten articles published in 2013 were awarded with "Best Article of the Year"<sup>1-10</sup>. Again this year, the best article of the year will be selected from the works proposed by our editorial board. It is really difficult situation to choose the best work from the many winner works. Download and referred ratios from our website are decisive in the selection of the best works. The articles, which are deemed worthy for the best article of the year in 2013, will be published online in our website January 2014.
